Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Schoolhouse Meeting: Conveniences and Labor Saving Devices for the Farm Home Fellow Teacher and Fellow Citizens: The progressive farmer no longer cuts his grain with a cradle or does all his cultivating with hoes and old-fashioned plows; he has better and more efficient implements for his work. The new farm machinery lightens his labor and increases his crop. How about the farmer s wife? Does she have her labor lightened? Are her important duties of housekeeper and mother made easier, and is her efficiency increased by improved household equipment? Not long ago the Smith-Lever Bill was passed by Congress, appropriating funds for carrying on extension work in Agriculture, including the work in the farnl home. In order to learn how to wisely spend that part of the money which was to be used for the farm home, the United States Department of Agriculture sent 55, 000 letters to representative farm homes of the United States asking for suggestions from farm women as to their greatest needs and the best methods of supplying them. Only 2,241 answers were received. Among the suggestions given in these answers were such as these: provide for farm women better opportunities for domestic science education, publish more literature and bulletins on home sanitation and health, send demonstrators to teach right ways of preparing foods ; but most frequent of all was the suggestion, show us some way to do our home work better and without such an unceasing round of back-breaking water-toting, washing, cooking and cleaning up from before day till after dark. Undoubtedly the farm home has not had its share of the money spent for improvements on the farm....
