B-271979 resources these activities consumed to achieve various levels of performance. Virginia introduced a comprehensive cost analysis method based on the federal governments A-76 program and the states contracting experiences to try to capture the complete costs associated with performing a service or function. Virginia reported that in fiscal year 1996 it was able to identify complete costs for 45 percent of the government activities identified as approach ABC privatization candidates. Since 1995, Virginia has piloted an in a number of agencies as a possible replacement for its existing analysis method. According to officials in Indianapolis and Virginia, obtaining more complete data was more time consuming but enhanced their governments ability to identify cost savings and evaluate bid proposals. Indianapolis officials told us they were able to obtain the information they ABC analyses from their current accounting system even needed to do though it did not provide cost data by activity. Officials used a system that took cost data (e. g....
